Bridge tragedy averted

◆ Police, fire respond to despondant man atop trestle bridge

By DEBRA LO GUERCIO
Express editor

Local law enforcement and fire department personnel averted a potential tragedy on Tuesday, July 15, when a 54-year-old Winters man scaled the railroad trestle bridge over Putah Creek just before 6 p.m.

When police officers arrived on the scene following a 911 call from the wife of the man's friend, who was also standing below on the bridge, he told the officers that he no longer wanted to live. According to Police Chief Bruce Muramoto, the man appeared "like he had been drinking" and said he was going to jump from the bridge.

Sergeant Terry Van Houten, one of the responding officers, said the man claimed he had a weapon, and challenged the officers to shoot him. However, Van Houten says no weapon was produced, so he and Winters Police Office Todd Barnett secured the area, and continued talking with him.

Winters welcomes new police officer

Cake was one of the many agenda items that the city council unanimously agreed on at their last meeting.

The Tuesday, July 15, meeting introduced a new member dedicated to the safety of Winters: Officer Niall Dolan. Born in Ireland, he became a citizen of the United States in 1995, serving in various law enforcement positions in California and Washington. His wife, Susan, and their three sons, were on hand to welcome him to the Winters police force.

After Dolan was sworn in, Chief Bruce Muramoto presented an appreciation award to Reserve Officer Jeff Green for his service from 2002-08.

Following the presentations, council members celebrated with the police officers and their families by enjoying cake and pie.

The police department had a bitter-sweet evening, however, as a man contemplating jumping from the bridge was talked down by law enforcers just before the meeting started.

Once back in the council chambers, Muramoto praised his team, saying "I'm really proud of how our folks operated."

His accolades prompted Mayor Michael Martin to say, "Job well done, Chief."

The celebrations were followed by a number of items up for discussion. The first was the selection of two council members to serve on an auditing commission responsible for maintaining control over financial responsibilities. After Martin appointed himself and absent council member Tom Stone to the committee, the item was passed unanimously.

A presentation was done by Shelly Gunby, Director of Financial Management, about the purchase of a new, $58,000 software program that would provide pro-

School board considers parcel tax

By ELLIOT LANDES
Staff writer

The school board discussed putting a parcel tax before voters, at the July 17 meeting. The idea surfaced originally as one of the 117 suggestions produced in the restructuring/expenditure reduction process the district conducted earlier in this school year. The process was one stop on the way to painful cost cutting brought on by both reduced school enrollment and the governor's threatened cuts at the state level. The idea was brought up again at a previous board meeting by High School teachers Liz Coman and Kari Mann.

In the past, the district has tried the approach three times, with only one attempt succeeding, producing funding for the multipurpose room at the middle school.

The project would require legal work to create the proposed measure, as well as the cost of participating in the election. In the meeting packet, Superintendent Dale Mitchell noted current problems with the idea. There are two large fund-raising programs underway in the community, the nearly complete project to raise pledges of over $1 million for the new St. Anthony's Church, and an upcoming project to raise $500,000 for the new library. In addition, the depressed housing market and rising fuel costs may make voters less likely to support such a measure.

"Given the way the economy is, I'd have a hard time believing a parcel tax would succeed, even though I would personally vote for it," said trustee Rob Nickelson. "How do we decide how much to ask for in the parcel tax?"

The estimate for the cost of doing a survey," said Superintendent Dale Mitchell," is $15 to $25 thousand dollars. The board would hire consultants to do the survey and a report, suggesting which strategies and options would work the best.

Trustee president Jay Shepherd said in the previous parcel tax proposals, the survey report came back with different amounts of support suggested for different target taxes considered.

"They do a fairly broad sampling of the district," said Shepherd.

Trustee Mary Jo Roduska said that only 15 percent of the parcel tax proposals in various districts from last June's election were successful, and those were in wealthier districts.

OBITUARIES

Lavinia Mae Niemann Young

Lavinia Mae Niemann Young, 92, lifelong Winters resident, passed away on Thursday, May 22, 2008 at Stollwood Convalescent Hospital in Woodland. She was born in Winters on July 31, 1915 in the family home on Baker Street, the youngest of the eight children of Lulu Mae Drever Niemann and Robert Ludoff Niemann.

In 1917, the couple moved their growing family to the house on Niemann Road where Lavinia lived until her marriage. She received her education in the local schools, attending Winters Elementary School and the Winters Joint Union High School. At age 11, Lavinia and her sister Evelyn were baptized by Rev. H. H. Wilson in the Winters Christian Church. In high school, Lavinia was president of her sophomore class, was a cheerleader, and a Dixon May Day attendant.

She attended Sacramento Junior College and then graduated from the University of California at Berkeley in June of 1937 from the College of Letters and Science, majoring in history and minoring in English.

She met her husband, Robert Arthur Young, in elementary school and they were married on Oct. 23, 1937 in the Niemann home. After their marriage Bob and Lavinia moved to the historic Young home where five generations of Youngs have now lived. At this 202 Russell address, their four children, Diane, Robert, Joseph and William were raised.

Described by relatives as "a career Mom," Lavinia was a dedicated community volunteer worker. She worked on the Community Center building fund and served on the Winters Historical Landmark Advisory Committee in the 1970s. Her picture and short bio hangs in the entry way of the Winters Opera House along with the many other Winters' community volunteers. She enjoyed her bridge group of 70 years, meeting monthly. In the later years, they gave up the fancy lunches and playing bridge, choosing to visit and catch up with the news.

Following Bob's death in 1993, Lavinia remained in the family home until December 2007. She moved into Palm Gardens assisted care facility in Woodland in December then to Stollwood in May. Her extended family made her later life at 202 Russell Street possible, say family members, and the family's goal and her goal was to live in the home she lived in for 70 years as long as possible.

Survivors say family was most important for Lavinia, and she looked forward to their visits and traveling to visit them in Virginia, Arizona, and Hawaii. Lavinia was devoted and very proud of her children, grandchildren and great grandchildren, loving each member unconditionally. She will be remembered for her humor, encouragement and thoughtful ways.

She was active in the Christian Church when her children were growing up, involved in the PTA, serving as president, Cub Scout den mother and supporting all of her children in their many activities, never missing a sporting event. She was also involved in the community, co-chairing the Winters Centennial committee in 1975 and the Bi-Centennial in 1976.

She is survived by her children, Diane and Alex Balberde of Fairfax, VA; Robert and Elizabeth of Davis; Joseph and Dorothy of Tempe, AZ; William and Nancy of Stockton. Grandchildren Steve and Eileen Balberde of Clifton, VA, Mike Balberde of Fairfax, VA, Jeff and Leigh Balberde of Cumming, GA, Matt and Heather Balberde of Cartersville, GA, Denise and Jonathan Laycock of Portland, OR, Diane and Dean Thomas of Moraga, Lori and Jay Payne of Gilbert, AZ, Lisa and Mike Angstead of Gilbert, AZ, Ryan Young of Carlsbad, Erin Young of Stockton and John Young of Santa Cruz. Step grandchildren Charlie and Marilee Ingalls of Santa Clara, Alyssa and Dwayne Fletcher of Cedar Rapids, IA. Great grandchildren Will and Andy Balberde, Ansley Balberde, Allie and Elizabeth Balberde, Dylan and Jessica Thomas, Peter Laycock, Brandon, Holden, Carter and Hannah Payne, Joe and Tom Angstead, Lee Fletcher and MacKayla Ingalls. She is also survived by numerous nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Robert; father, Robert L. Niemann; mother, Lulu Mae Niemann; brothers, Charles, Leland, Carmen, Craig; sisters, Gertrude Hurd, Eunice Herold, and Evelyn Meyer.

A public celebration of her life will be held on her birthday, Thursday, July 31, 2008, at 11 a.m. at the Winters Pioneer Presbyterian Church. Her charity of choice is the Yolo County Hospice.

DEBRA LO QUERCIO BECAUSE I SAY SO

A COUPLE WEEKS BACK, retired Four-Star General Wesley Clark caught a heap of flak for commenting that getting shot down and captured in Vietnam doesn't automatically qualify someone to be President of the United States.

Predictably, the McCain camp nearly wet itself in hysteria over Clark's alleged attack on McCain's patriotism. The uproar was reminiscent of John Lennon's comment that The Beatles were "more popular than Jesus." In both cases, knee-jerk histrionics destroyed any possible intellectual examination of the statement.

At the time, The Beatles were, in fact, getting way more attention than Jesus, who hadn't gotten a single album onto the charts in decades. Teens were falling all over themselves just for a glimpse of the Fab Four. To get a look at a plaster Jesus hanging from a cross? Not so much.

Lennon attempted to mitigate all the nonsense that ensued, and explained he wasn't making a statement about Jesus' significance, nor was he implying The Beatles were more powerful. Only more popular. It was a simple observation.

Same as Clark. However, unlike Lennon, Clark's further elaboration got almost no air time because it was unlikely to sell tons of Viagra during the commercial break. Clark went on to say that getting shot down and captured in Vietnam doesn't magically imbue someone with the executive skills necessary to be Commander in Chief. He further praised McCain's service to our country, but this also was ignored, because it might've watered down that really juicy comment that would entice the limited attention span audience to stay tuned.

However, Clark was absolutely spot-on. John McCain's suffering as a POW didn't automatically make him qualified to be President. What did it make him? Lucky (or unlucky, depending on how you look at it). Tough. Brave. A hero? Yes. A survivor? Absolutely. Someone we should admire and for whose service we should be thankful? Totally. Automatic choice for President? Not so fast.

Let's put it this way: Did being a POW magically make John McCain qualified to be a manager at Target? No? Do you think maybe being President is a little more complicated than running a Target store?

The appropriate check-mate for Clark's comment would've been for the McCain camp to completely agree with him: "Absolutely right, General. Although McCain's experience as a POW make him a hero and role model, these things are more illustrative of his character rather than his actual executive qualifications. What qualifies him to be president are his 26 of experience in Congress and with Washington politics."

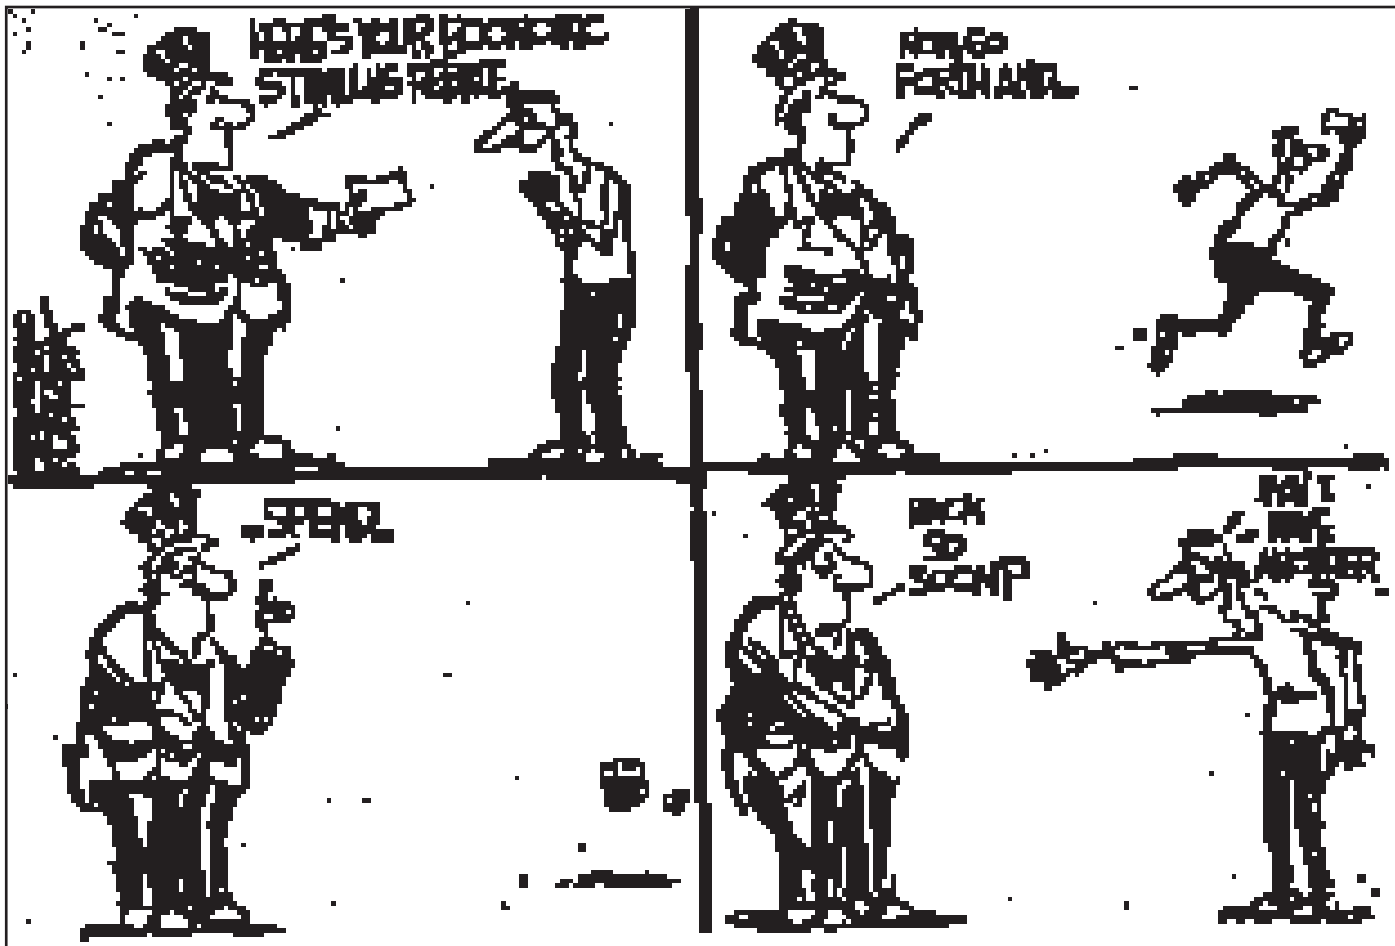

Your move, General.

But no, the McCain camp had to go all "You're questioning his patriotism and that means you don't respect his service and that means you don't support the troops, and you want the terrorists to win, and that means you hate freedom, and Mom, baseball and apple pie, and where is your American flag lapel pin, Mr. Four Star General? Couldn't find any room for it amongst that chest full of medals?"

On the other hand, maybe "patriotic" hysteria was the McCain camp's lesser of two evils. Because had they held up "experience in Washington" as evidence of McCain's qualifications, Clark could next have said, "Oh, you mean the abundant experience in Washington that got us into an unprovoked war with a country that had nothing to do with 9/11? Trashed international relations? Insurmountable national debt? Gas approaching $5 per gallon — contrasted with grotesque oil company profits? Borders that look like Swiss cheese? One in 10 mortgages in foreclosure? A stock market and an environment teetering on disaster? American jobs bleeding away to Asia, India and China? The trampling of the Constitution and a Supreme Court that looks the other way? And last but certainly not least, more than 4,000 American soldiers and 90,000 Iraqi civilians killed and still no capture of Osama bin Laden, largely because we spent our time and resources attacking the wrong country?" No wonder McCain's camp resorted to pseudo-patriotic whimpering in response to Clark's comment! McCain participated in all of that!

As much as I love picking on George Bush, let's face it, he didn't function in a vacuum. Every disastrous decision he made was endorsed by Congress, either outright or because our "representatives" were too gutless to defy him — Democrats and Republicans alike. Including John McCain, who has spent 26 years steeping in the Congressional cesspool, and THAT is what casts doubt on his qualifications to serve as president, not his time spent as a POW.

OUT OF OFFICE COUNTDOWN: 27 weeks until the unqualified nightmare ends.

FFA helps save on food prices

Dear Editor:

Our names are Caitlin and Austin Calvert and we are members of Winters High School FFA. In August, we, along with many other students, will be participating in the Yolo County Fair selling livestock we have raised. Raising, caring and working with these animals is a rewarding experience. It teaches us responsibility, hard work and dedication. Participating in this endeavor comes with a price. The way we offset the cost of raising these animals is to sell them at the fair.

Purchasing meat from a student allows those interested to continue to participate in these projects. Often by selling our animals we can earn awards and degrees within the FFA organization. It is not necessary to purchase an entire animal. Most of us sell our meat in quarters. This makes it much less expensive for the buyer and does not completely take over your freezer. The cost is probably much less than you would expect. Rather than purchase the meat, some choose to simply donate money to help defray the cost.

If you are interested in helping the Winters High School FFA students, save on your grocery bill, and possibly receive a tax write off, please contact us at 795-9044 or Mr. Kent Benson at Winters High School.

It warmed my heart to read the article in the Sacramento Bee about your paper.

I grew up in Jarvis, Ontario, a small community in Canada (crossroads of Highways 3 and 6). My father inherited the local newspaper called the "Jarvis Record" from my grandmother in the 1930s. We had no running water in the old record office, and I can vividly remember Rusty, who operated the old linotype and the trays of print that had to be aligned each day.

My mother would have us walk up to the office at 5 a.m. every Thursday to help her distribute the papers for about 4,000 subscribers in 5 counties. After we folded the papers by hand, my mother would set up her big jar of paste for the labeling, bundle them together and then we would transport them in a hand wagon to the post office.

Rusty was an orphan from England who arrived in town one day looking for work. He had no experience in the newspaper but he quickly learned the skills under my dad. I still have the typewriter that my dad would labor over every week as he produced an article for the Pen, Scissors and Paste Pot Column. Although I was not alive during World War II, I still hear from some of the soldiers who always enjoyed reading the paper while overseas.

I could go on and on. Strangely enough my dad suffered from a chronic ulcer and he also owned a Pool Hall.

Attending Girls State was enriching experience

FOR THE LAST FEW WEEKS I've told you a lot about Camp Royal, but there was also another camp that went on this summer. One boy and one girl were chosen from WHS to participate in Girls' and Boys' State. This year's chosen ones were Taylor Brickley and Jessica Sharp.

I was talking to Jessica about her experience at Girls' State and realized that like me, she too had a life-changing experience. Hers didn't involve so much meditation, but I think that she too will come back to school this August with a fresh perspective, and bring about some change. I did an interview with Jessica, and I think that like me, you too will find her experience very interesting.

Q: What the trip getting to Girls' State like?

A: Actually, I was fortunate enough to meet up with a girl from Sacramento who was also attending Girls State so that we could make a shirt to wear to the airport so other girls on our flight would know we were going to Girls State too. This was really great because I was able to enter Girls State knowing at least one other girl. Seven other girls and I flew down south on the same flight where we took a van to the Pitzer campus. Once there we were assigned to our dorms (where we roomed with one other girl) and met up with our cities (about 28 girls or so in each city). Meeting with the other girls was not awkward for me whatsoever. I knew that each of these girls had been chosen for the reasons that they were well rounded, extraordinary individuals, who all had something to offer. This made me excited to meet and learn about them. Each and every day I met at least five new people whether it was waiting in line at the cafeteria, or debating a piece of legislature in the Assembly.

Q: What was your daily routine during the week?

A: My daily routing started with getting up at 5am to go running with about 12 other girls who were also runners and then getting back to my dorm at about 11:30 each night. In between that time our schedules were hectic! I was either at a city or county planning meeting, studying up on a bill, listening to state candidates give speeches, attending a candidates forum or simply getting to know the other girls. Our schedules kept us so busy, that I had no time to realize just how exhausting it truly was!

Q: What were some of the most significant experiences during the week?

A: Well, first off each day was an experience in itself. But some things that stand out were speeches from both Debrah Bowen the secretary of state of California, and a previous girl stater who recently won an Emmy for her work in the documentary Your Child Is My Child. The talent show was another great experience. We had both a nationally ranked lyrical dancer and magician. There were girls with amazing musical talents, from playing the piano to writing and singing some beautiful songs of their own.

Q: What was your favorite activity during the week?

A: By far my favorite activities throughout the week were the Assembly meetings. Because I was an assemblywoman (an elected position I ran for in the beginning of the week). I was able to debate upon all the bills that came through Assembly. It was here that I was able to voice my opinions on matters such as the environment, education, state economy, and poverty. The debates would get so intense that other girls would attend our meetings to watch them. Because every process at Girls state is a complete reflection of CA government I was able to learn and follow parliamentary procedure which was just another thing I learned while there. I also experienced first hand the democratic process of checks and balances because if we did not pass a bill per say from Senate, it would be killed.

Q: What were the other girls like?

A: I would describe the girls I met at Girls State as the type of people I hope to see as our political leaders in the future. Each of them was knowledgeable on all the issues that currently face our state and country. When I would discuss such matters as education and the economy with them, they were able to offer me a whole new spectrum of ideas that I had not realized before. Not only were they knowledgeable, but they were inventive as well. They each had ideas on how to initiate the changes that need to be made and were extremely passionate about their cause. All in all this was an elite group of girls who all have the ability to change not only our state but the world in their future. I must also add that they were open-minded. They were willing to change their views if they found they were flawed, and were open to growth and change. (Just what our country needs!!)

Q: What changes will you bring to WHS from your experiences?

A: Knowledge, knowledge, knowledge! I realize that knowledge is the most powerful tool and necessary for us to change to the world for the better. As VP of Interact, I hope to enlighten the student body on pressing issues and offer them ideas on how they can initiate change through their own involvement. I believe that the most important thing is that I am able to teach the student body what I have learned about issues such as poverty, education, the environment, the list goes on, because if they at least know what the issues are than they are able to empower themselves as citizens and their vote in the near future.

Q: What is the most important thing that you learned during your week at Girls State?

A: Aww man that's tough... As obvious as it sounds, I learned the extreme importance of government. As a youth in a time where it seems politics is not always just and we as citizens are not always given equal opportunity, I realize that our government must always be readily able to move forward with changes. They must keep an open, unbiased mind to fairly represent every demographic equally. This is the only way that we can prosper as a society and as a state. I also just wanted to thank Soroptimist for giving me this opportunity. It was truly one of the most enriching and enlightening experiences of my life. I feel that I have gained a world of knowledge in that short week and can whole-heartedly say that Girls State is a life changing experience. It has given me personal fulfillment and knowledge that will carry on into the rest of my life.

‘Twelfth Night’ opens Friday, Aug. 8

By GERMAINE HUPE
Special to the Express

Although William Shakespeare died 392 years ago, his works are very much alive today. In fact his plays are even more popular in the twenty-first century than they were in the seventeenth. Professional companies, college drama societies, and community theaters continue to present Shakespeare plays in ever increasing numbers.

Our local community stages its tribute to the bard with a mini-summer festival of its own. Last week the Winters Shakespeare Workshop, featuring middle school and high school age actors, presented a charming and innovative version of “The Tempest.” Currently The Winters Theatre Company is rehearsing “Twelfth Night” to be presented for two weekends, Aug. 8 and 9, and Aug. 15 and 16, in the outdoor amphitheater behind the Community Center.

tion marks the eighth year that WCT has stages “Shakespeare in the Park,” and the venue is becoming a summertime entertainment tradition.

“Twelfth Night” is a comedy, and as such, contains the usual Shakespeare combination of the witty dialogue of the upper class and the comic antics of the clowns. This play, however, differs somewhat from the traditional formula because a few of the clowns are actually members of the noble class by their birth if not by their behavior.

Ladies fete Lindeman over lunch

By MARGARET BURNS
Special to the Express

Wednesday last some ladies of the environs of Winters held a luncheon at a local eating establishment (Chuy's Tacqueria) in honor of an important occasion for Chris Lindeman, long-time Winters resident. The ladies gathered shortly before 1 p.m. to celebrate. No men, significant or otherwise, were invited.

The honoree wore a becoming beige knit top and others were attired in varied summer dress, given the heat of the season. After ordering delicious meals, the topics of conversation ranged widely, touching on the important events of these days, focusing on local but including national and international subjects.

Other attendees were Mary King (wearing an exotic Venetian skirt), Gayle Andersen, Lura Meyer, Joanne Larkey (organizer of the event), Jill Coursin, Susan Hale and Maggie Burns.

There was much shrimp a la plancha eaten. The honoree feasted on fajitas. The festivities were completed with much candle blowing over a carrot cake from Lester's Bakery.

During desert several charming presents and cards were opened and distributed. Much merriment was caused by a ribald cartoon sent by Richard Larkey. A book on toys from the '50s caused nostalgic discussion of hula hoops, Barbie dolls and other memorabilia well known to the ladies at the table.

All returned safely home, vowing to repeat the experience on a future important occasion.

Rodolfa expressed concern about spending $35,000 for consultants, only to have the project fail.

“Right, but who’s going to help us,” said trustee Rodney Orosco. “We have to help ourselves. The state isn’t going to help. My concern is if we sit here and do nothing, our school will be nipped to pieces. We’ll be in the same spot we were two years ago, scrambling to find money.”

Coman participated in the workshop discussion. She said it appeared there would not be time to get the item on this November ballot. Mitchell agreed.

“It doesn’t have to be a $150 parcel tax,” said Coman, “a $50 tax would help.”

“I know for a fact the amount of effort you put into the two failed efforts for parcel taxes and the one successful one,” said Shepherd. “It takes as much work to lose as it does to win.” Coman agreed. “You speak with great authority,” said Shepherd.

Shepherd recounted that the successful campaign built on the previous committee’s failures, as the committee members became more expert at what works and what doesn’t.

Coman volunteered to participate in the committee.

“We have to get folks to rally the Hispanic community,” said Coman, “and work together.”

The board will consider the item at Aug. 7 meeting, with Mitchell bringing in more specific information about election costs and legal costs.

guises herself as her brother in order to protect her virtue, and the ensuing mistaken identities cause hilarious twists to the plot.

The evening of Saturday, Aug. 9, is a benefit performance for the Winters Participation Gallery for the Arts. Refreshments are included in the ticket price of ten dollars.

The admission price for the other three performances is five dollars with children under 12 admitted free if accompanied by an adult.

Shakespeare’s ‘Tempest’ transforms town into Tahiti

By MOLLY DAVIS
Staff writer

As the sun set through the trees, a playground transformed into a tropical island. An ordinary sandbox became an extraordinary beach, glittering with imaginary waterfalls and dancing fairies. For one magical weekend, Winters became paradise.

The Winters Shakespeare Workshop kicked off their rendition of “The Tempest” on Friday, July 18, at City Park, with an additional performance on Saturday, July 19. This year’s play, set in Tahiti, featured original music by Laura Sandage, choreography by Michelle Drumwright and a terrific cast under the direction of Russell St. Clair.

For the past 11 years, the workshop has given teens the opportunity to perform and understand Shakespeare’s plays. According to St. Clair, the experience helps kids use the “power of theater to develop confidence and people skills,” as well as learning how to work in an ensemble.

Mary Lou Linvill, the play’s producer, added that she loves to see the cast grow individually throughout the five Prospero, played by Andrew Fridae, comforts his daughter Miranda, played by Reanna Royer, after he has raised the storm known as “The Tempest”, in this year’s production performed July 18 and 19 by the Winters Shakespeare Workshop, produced by Mary Lou Linvill and directed by Russell St. Clair.

week production. She advises the performers to “stretch yourself in as many ways as you can,” explaining that “The Tempest” involves not just acting, but also singing and dancing.

“The Tempest” captivates the minds and emotions of not only the members involved in the production, but of the audience, as well. Young children sat enthralled in the action, watching their playground visibly transform into a tropical paradise. And this is one of St. Clair’s main goals.

One of the most fulfilling aspects of holding the play in a public park is that “residents are seeing the space in a new way,” said St. Clair. The sets may come down, but the audience will always have their memories of being transported to Tahiti for an evening.

Little Charlie’s Caravan at the Gazebo Thursday

Little Charlie’s Caravan rolls into Winters for a free outdoor concert at the Gazebo Thursday, July 24. The band consists of Charles “Little Charlie” Baty, formerly of Little Charlie and the Night Cats, and Jason Vanderford of the Hot Club of San Francisco on acoustic guitars, Bob Armstrong of R. Crumb and the Cheap Suit Serenaders on accordion and musical saw, and Keith Cary, veteran of too many bands to name, on upright bass. Baty recruited these stellar players to share his obsession with Hot Club-style French gypsy jazz à la Django Reinhardt. They started out playing in Baty’s living room and are now ready to entertain Yolo County.

The concert, sponsored by Winters Friends of the Library, will run from 7-8:30 p.m. at the Rotary Park Gazebo, on Main Street at Railroad Avenue. Pizza, ice cream, and soft drinks will be available. Proceeds benefit the library.

The concert series will finish July 31 with Hardwater playing rock, pop, and blues originals and covers. The concerts are free; donations to benefit the library will be accepted. For more information call 795-3173 or email kcary@dcn.org.

Yolo County Sheriff's Department and California Highway Patrol also responded to the incident, and Van Houten said a trained negotiator from the sheriff's department talked with the man until he eventually agreed to come down from the bridge without further incident at about 7:30 p.m. He descended from the bridge on a fire department ladder and was taken by ambulance to Sutter Davis hospital for a psychological evaluation.

In the meantime, Muramoto said the CHP had to close the car bridge, because people had gathered on the bridge and were heckling the man to jump.

Because the man was not arrested or charged with any crime, the police department withheld his identity because of laws protecting patient confidentiality. Muramoto expressed praise and appreciation for the fire department and law enforcement personnel that assisted with this incident, and noted that the fire department personnel were prepared to go into the water if the man did in fact jump. He also praised the Winters officers for their actions. He also noted that one of the reasons the situation was resolved without a tragedy was that there happened to be two officers on duty at that particular time, and both were able to respond.

"If there had been only one officer on duty, it might have been different," said Muramoto, noting that when there is only one officer on duty, he is often actually out of town while transporting a suspect to the Yolo County Jail in Woodland.

"The bottom line is that we had tremendous support, especially from the fire department," said Muramoto. "It takes a lot of resources."

He expressed appreciation for the reciprocal support between the

Winters Police Department and area law enforcement agencies, and noted that the July 15 incident had "huge potential" for having a much more unfortunate resolution.

He added that anyone who feels so despondent that he or she might hurt themselves can call the Suicide Prevention crisis line,

Morning tour of City of Davis Wetlands planned

The City of Davis Wetlands will be open for the last free morning tour of the season on Saturday, Aug. 2, 9-11 am. Members of the public are invited to experience summer in the wetlands with docent Dru Dunton and John McNerney, City of Davis Wildlife Specialist. From September until February, all monthly tours will change to an afternoon time slot.

Along the tour route, participants may be treated to the sight of flocks of White-faced Ibis feeding in neighboring rice fields. Often seen flying near the Yolo Causeway in ragged formation, White-faced Ibis are easily recognized by the long downward curving beak they use to probe for invertebrates. White-faced Ibis are named after the thin white border of feathers found around the beak during breeding season. Plumage on the rest of the bird's body is a rich purple, bronze and green.

Other species that may be seen in the City of Davis Wetlands include Snowy Egrets and Black-crowned Night-Herons, American Avocets, Black-necked Stilts, Western Meadowlarks and a number of swallow species.

All those wishing to join the tour should meet a few minutes before 9:00 am at the gate in front of the City's wastewater treatment plant, east of the Yolo County landfill on Road 28H. Bring your own binoculars, water (no potable water on site), and field guide. Docents will have spotting scopes to enhance wildlife viewing. Most of the tour is by car on firm gravel roads, with a couple of optional short walks in the wetlands. A portable toilet is available on the route.

To reach the waste water treatment station heading north from Davis on Pole Line Road (going toward Woodland), turn right on Road 28H and go three miles east, just past County Road 105. If traveling west on I-80, take the Mace Boulevard exit and turn right (north). Take the first right (32A) and proceed to Road 105 and take a left. Travel to Road 28H and turn right. The group meets at the gate east of the intersection.

This is a free tour. No reservations are required. For more information or further directions visit the Yolo Basin Foundation website at www.yolobasin.org.

Gamblers were a safe bet for title

By ERIC LUCERO
Express sports

The Tri-County Gamblers have won their ninth North Bay Joe DiMaggio summer league baseball championship in the last 10 years. So it wasn't much of a gamble to bet on the team this season. Tri-County had an overall record of 23-4, was 15-3 in league and is now the number one seed for the Joe DiMaggio World series after winning both games in the regionals.

The Gamblers swept through St. Helena on July 12, in a double header to finish up their regular season. Chris Cole led the team on the mound throwing the first three innings for the win before turning the ball over to Matt Vedo. The Gamblers beat St. Helena 13-1 in five innings and out hit their opponent 12-1.

At the plate Kaplan Smith led the Gamblers batting 3 for 3 with a triple and two RBI. Mitchell Barsotti batted 2 for 3 with two doubles and two RBI. Ian Mistrot batted 2 for 3 with a double and had five RBI. Cole also batted 2 for 3. Derek Carothers batted 1 for 1 with an RBI. Vedo went 1 for 4 with a double and two RBI, while Ray McIntire batted 1 for 4.

Game two was much like the first as the Gamblers ten runned St. Helena 13-3 in five innings. Kevin Rowell picked up the win for the Gamblers throwing all five innings. John Cummings batted 3 for 3 to lead the Gamblers and had four RBI. Cole batted 2 for 3 with a triple and three RBI. Stephen Carmack hit 2 for 4. Will Enos went 1 for 3 with a homerun and two RBI. Both Smith and Barsotti went 1 for 1 with an RBI and Thomas Flemming batted 1 for 3 for the Gamblers.

On Saturday, July 19, the Gamblers played their first of two games in the North Bay Regionals against the Vallejo Mets and came out with a 10-0 shutout and a no hitter from Cole. Cole struck out eight batters in five innings and gave up just one walk. At the plate Carmack went 1 for 1 with an RBI to lead the team. Mistrot batted 1 for 2 with a double and two RBI. Vedo batted 1 for 2, Carothers batted 1 for 3 with a double and two RBI, Barsotti batted 1 for 3 with a double and a RBI, and Cole went 1 for 4 with an RBI.

In game two the Gamblers took on Mendocino and pulled off a 4-3 victory. Rowell threw another complete game and picked up the win for the Gamblers. Carmack batted 3 for 4 to lead Tri-County. Mistrot batted 2 for 3 with a double and two RBI. Cole went 2 for 4 with a triple, McIntire batted 1 for 2, while Lane Taylor went 1 for 3 for the Gamblers.

Tri-County will play their first game of the 2008 World Series on Friday, July 25, against Pacifica. The game will start at 1:45 p.m. at the Veterans Home in Yountville. All games for the tournament will be at the Veterans Home or at Justin Siena High School in Napa.

Estafas de tarjetas telefónicas

Nosotros como hispanos, muchas veces somos blanco fácil para estafadores, que ven en nuestra población la oportunidad de hacer dinero fácil, sabemos de trabajadores inmigrantes que han sido víctimas de abogados sin escrúpulos, los trabajadores con la intención de arreglar su situación migratoria, le pagan a los abogados con el dinero que les ha tomado años ahorrar. Otra estafa muy conocida es cuando le hablan por teléfono asegurándole que usted se ha ganado un fabuloso premio, y que todo lo que tiene que hacer para reclamar su premio es proporcionar su numero de cuenta del banco, o su seguro social, por tonto que parezca este tipo de estafas, hay gente que la cree y proporciona la información, solo para descubrir después que le han retirado dinero del banco, o que han abierto créditos con su numero de seguro social, sin embargo, esta de moda una estafa mucho mas sencilla, las tarjetas telefónicas para llamadas internacionales.

Para los que algunas ocasiones hemos usado estas tarjetas, estará de acuerdo con esta denuncia, quizá el hacer uso de estas tarjetas, nos ahorre dinero en comparación con nuestra compañía de teléfono que tenemos en la casa, pero si pusiéramos atención al tiempo y minutos que ofrecen las tarjetas, nos daríamos cuenta que nos están robando.

Alguien debería hacer algo al respecto, porque se esta estafando al consumidor, pero nuestros gobernantes no están haciendo nada al respecto, y no sabemos hasta cuando vayan a tomar cartas en el asunto.

Las tarjetas las usan los recién llegados, así como las personas que ya están establecidas aquí, su uso es popular, ya que en verdad se ha comprobado que al usarlas se puede ahorrar de un 20 a un 60 por ciento. En comparación con las llamadas utilizando el servicio tradicional, o un teléfono celular. Depende la frecuencia con que se hable al exterior, pero se ha comprobado que se pueden ahorrar un promedio de $40 al mes.

Estos ahorros han propiciado que las empresas de telecomunicaciones tengan un aumento en la venta de estas tarjetas prepagadas, ya que al pagar por anticipado, eliminan el riesgo de facturas telefónicas impagas. Y, a medida que la popularidad de las tarjetas telefónicas prepagadas aumenta, el volumen de las llamadas internacionales va subiendo en forma espectacular.

Las consecuencias de estos aumentos en ventas de tarjetas prepagadas, son que también aumentan la cantidad de negocios deshonestos que intentan estafar, o más bien dicho estafan a las personas. Y, puesto que muchos inmigrantes llegan al país hablando poco inglés y sin conocer el sistema jurídico estadounidense, son blancos fáciles.

No es de sorprender que la estafa más típica consista en quitarles minutos a los consumidores: dar publicidad a determinada cantidad de minutos, pero proporcionar una cantidad mucho menor de minutos reales.

Tampoco vamos a decir que todas las tarjetas telefónicas prepagadas que encontramos en las tiendas, estafan al consumidor, pero es rara la tarjeta que te da los minutos reales que tu pagas. Porque cuando hablamos no nos damos cuenta si nos están estafando o no. Después de todo, a menos que esté uno mirando el reloj, es difícil diferenciar entre 25 minutos y 30. la operadora te dice que tienes derecho a tantos minutos, te des cuenta que si solo usaste 20 o 30 minutos, la compañía te puede cargar el doble o el triple de esos minutos.

Este delito por lo general nadie lo denuncia, y como casi nadie lo denuncia, se ha vuelto muy frecuente, en un estudio hecho se comprobó que cuatro de las compañías más importantes de tarjetas telefónicas prepagadas reducen hasta por la mitad los minutos prometidos en la publicidad. En dichas cuatro compañías, el promedio de minutos disponibles solo era, en realidad, un 60 por ciento de la cantidad de minutos prometidos.

Podemos decir que al fin y al cabo no es mucho dinero el que roban, pero si sumamos el dinero de las personas que usan estos servicios por un día, encontraremos que las compañías, están robando la nada despreciable suma de millón de dólares por día.

Hasta el momento, muy pocos congresistas y fiscales de estados han expresado interés en esta estafa en aumento. Hasta que no se instituya una campaña global contra el fraude, las compañías inescrupulosas continuarán estafando a los consumidores de tarjetas telefónicas pre-pagadas, así que tenga cuidado la próxima vez que use una tarjeta de estas, cuide su dinero.

¿Mas armas, mas muertes?

Tenemos la necesidad de tener un arma en casa?, El pasado mes de junio, la Suprema Corte de Justicia, aprobó un cambio constitucional a la segunda enmienda. en la cual, se expone que un pueblo tiene derecho a defender sus derechos en caso de que estos se vean violados. A partir de esta aseveración, y a muy grandes rasgos, la Corte Suprema acordó que la palabra “pueblo” se refiere tanto a una persona común, o un civil, como a un militar –el cual tiene derecho a portar armas por cuestiones de defensa nacional–. Así que, en resumen, ahora todos podrán tener un arma legalmente.

Por medio de una votación, se acordó el derecho constitucional de los individuos para tener en su poder, y en su casa, un arma de fuego cargada para hacer uso de ella en caso de ser necesario. Esta decisión se considera histórica, ya que desde 1939 no se habían hecho cambios significativos a la Enmienda. Si bien estará permitido tener un arma de fuego, ésta debe usarse únicamente para propósitos de defensa personal, y deberá usarse solo dentro de una casa; si se sale a la calle con el arma y se usa por alguna razón no justificada, habrá un cargo penal grave.

Igualmente, si el arma se usa en casa sin que existan evidencias donde se justifique la defensa propia, también habrá consecuencias penales. Ahora bien, aún no está del todo regulada la manera en que se hará válida la compraventa un arma, es decir, cada estado del país tiene derecho a designar la edad y requisitos necesarios para adquirirla. Es decir, que todavía faltan puntos por determinar para hacer de este cambio algo más sólido.

Vivimos en una so-ciudad en la que, por desgracia, cada vez vemos más casos de violencia juvenil. Hemos visto ya más de un Columbine, donde adolescentes o personas jóvenes portan armas ilegalmente y cometen actos brutales. De ahí que también valdría la pena preguntarnos si con este cambio a la Segunda Enmienda no se provocarán más casos de este tipo de violencia. El tener un arma en casa acarrea muchas responsabilidades, entre ellas las de evitar que un hijo haga mal uso de ella. Y ya ni hablar de otros casos de violencia en el hogar.

Así como la Suprema Corte de Justicia de Justicia aprobó este cambio, algo se tiene que hacer para educar a las personas que compran armas, ya que es una responsabilidad muy grande tener o portar un arma. No debemos asumir que todos en la sociedad estamos listos para tener un arma y saber usarla con buen juicio.

Por desgracia, no veo nada claras ni las próximas reglas posibles ni la educación que conlleva esta decisión. No lo sé, supongo que sólo el tiempo nos mostrará las repercusiones de esta decisión, por ahora sólo nos queda esperar e informarnos más sobre un tema que, sin duda, es histórico y requiere de toda nuestra atención y toma de conciencia.

A diferencia del resto mundo civilizado, en Estados Unidos las armas son tan fáciles de comprar como un par de zapatos en una tienda. La única diferencia es que para pagar los zapatos no tenemos que tener identificación ni licencia de cacería y con las armas sí.

Ese derecho es lo que la Corte Suprema se ha encargado de garantizar.

Comida y cultura

Hace poco fui a comer con mi familia a un restaurante tipo buffet, y me llamo la atención ver en una mesa a dos viejitos, marido y mujer, eran americanos, yo calculo que entre 65 y 70 años, se veían muy bien, era domingo, así que andaban muy bien vestidos. Los estuve observando por un rato, y me llamo la atención que todo el rato que estuvieron en la mesa, ni una sola palabra pronunciaron. Comiendo en silencio, y comiendo como si estuvieran solos, cada uno en su mundo, cada uno en su soledad.

El restaurante estaba casi lleno, con mucha gente, mucho ruido, hablando y conversando, solo los dos viejitos estaban solos, eran un marcado contraste. No muy lejos de ahí, a unas cuantas mesas, estaban otros dos viejitos mexicanos, pero a diferencia de los viejitos americanos, estos viejitos no estaban solos, a su alrededor estaban los hijos, las nueras, los nietos, los sobrinos, y más amigos. Habían juntado tres mesas para poder comer todos juntos. Que contraste de culturas, los americanos comiendo solos, en silencio, en cambio los mexicanos comiendo con toda su familia.

Pero esta escena no ha sido la única, la he visto muy seguido en el tiempo que llevo viviendo aquí, somos dos pueblos diferentes, somos dos culturas muy diferentes, que contrastamos si, pero podemos convivir una junto a la otra.

Y es que mirando a la familia mexicana, pense en la importancia que hasta en los restaurantes tenemos como hispanos, porque los hispanos al ser mas, y convivir en la forma que nos gusta, en un futuro también seremos los que mas gastemos al salir a comer fuera.

Los hispanos gastamos en promedio 71 dólares a la semana comiendo afuera. El resto de la gente gasta sólo 59 dólares. Pero los hispanos que se han adaptado más a la vida de Estados Unidos, gastan aún más: Aproximadamente 108 dólares a la semana, o sea, un 83 por ciento más que el consumidor en general. Los americanos han tenido que gastar cientos de miles de dólares para saber algo que nosotros los hispanos hemos entendido desde siempre: Que salir a comer fuera no es sólo “espantar el hambre”, sino toda una experiencia, casi un ritual. Una experiencia, eso sí, 100% familiar.

Programa US Visitor

El programa US Visitor, lo estableció el gobierno federal en el año 2003, con el propósito de tomarles las huellas dactilares y fotografía de las personas que ingresaran como turistas a los Estados Unidos. Ahora se esta proponiendo que se realice el mismo procedimiento en las aerolíneas y compañías de cruceros, para cuando los viajeros salgan del país.

Se tiene la intención de empezar esta nueva fase del programa en junio del 2009. si esto se llega a realizar, las aerolíneas y cruceros estarán obligados a enviar la información personal de los pasajeros al Departamento de Seguridad Interna, cuando los pasajeros salgan de este país. Actualmente las aerolíneas solo tienen que dar los datos biográficos de los pasajeros internacionales antes de que dejen el país, pero con esta ampliación del programa van ha empezar a enviar también las huellas dactilares de quienes salgan. Esta información entrará a la base de datos biométricos del gobierno, la cual se uti-lizará supuesta mente por razones de seguridad internacional.

Con la información que se recabe, el gobierno federal podrá identificar a los visitantes o turistas a los cuales su visa se les haya vencido estando en el país, posiblemente en el futuro se les vaya a negar la entrada al país.

Por lo pronto las aerolíneas y cruceros, ya pusieron el grito en el cielo, ya que el gobierno les ha dicho que ellas van a asumir todos los gastos derivados de esta nueva parte del programa. Pero para que esto suceda las aerolíneas y compañías de cruceros no se van a quedar con los brazos cruzados, así que esperamos una batalla legal. Y esto nos sigue dando un claro ejemplo de cómo se esta poniendo la situación cada vez más difícil para los inmigrantes en cuestión de vigilancia, no tan solo en la llegada si no también en la salida de este país.

Asthma can strike at any age

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Isn't it odd to come down with asthma at age 66? They tell me I have it. I had a cough that started this past winter, and it wouldn't go away. It comes in spurts and is always worse at night. My family doctor sent me to a lung doctor, who did all sorts of tests on me; his verdict was asthma. No one believes me when I say I have asthma. They don't say so, but I know they're thinking I'm too old. — P.G.

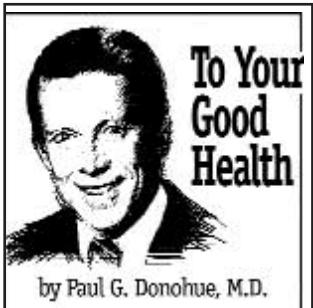

ANSWER: You can get asthma at any age. About 12 percent of adults suffer from it, and 15 percent of children have it. The number of adult asthmatic men equals the number of adult asthmatic women. In childhood, more boys than girls have it.

What happens in an asthma attack is a sudden narrowing of airways. Asthmatic airways are super-sensitive and asthmatics react to things that the rest of us don't. In addition, the airways' mucus glands pour out thick, sticky mucus, and the lining of the airways becomes swollen and inflamed. All of these mechanisms make it hard for air to pass into and out of the lungs.

Coughing is a characteristic asthma symptom. Wheezing during an attack is another tell-tale sign, but a cough might be the only thing indicating asthma.

Your doctor must have looked for a trigger for your attacks. If one is found, eliminating it assures successful treatment. If a trigger can't be found or can't be eliminated, then medicines have to keep attacks in check. Some asthma drugs dilate the constricted airways, while others soothe the airway lining to minimize mucus production and swelling. Many asthma medicines can be given by inhaler. That route of administration lessens the chances for side effects.

Readers who would like more information on asthma can order the booklet on that topic by writing to Dr. Donohue — No. 602W, Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475. Enclose a check or money order (no cash) for $4.75 U.S./$6 Canada with the recipient's printed name and address. Please allow four weeks for delivery.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My daughter's boyfriend has focal segmental glomerulosclerosis. What is done for it? They were planning to marry. Is that still possible? — K.D.

ANSWER: The young man has kidneys in which some of the filters are scarred. It's an autoimmune illness. Prednisone, one of the cortisone drugs, is the medicine usually given for it. Seventy percent of people achieve a remission from it.

Your daughter and her boyfriend can continue to discuss their marriage plans.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I've been told that if you ingest more salt than your body requires, the body can slough off the excess if you increase your water intake. Is that true? — G.S.

ANSWER: That is false. In fact, the extra salt holds onto fluid. The kidneys are excellent chemists, but they can do only so much. If a person overwhelms them with too much salt, they cannot get rid of it all. Much of it stays in the body and holds fluid.

Dr. Donohue regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but he will incorporate them in his column whenever possible. Readers may write him or request an order form of available health newsletters at P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475.

Immigrant-obsessive Lou Dobbs

By ROGER E. HERNANDEZ
Special to the Express

Lou Dobbs was singled out by a Media Matters study as the talk-show host "most obsessed with the topic" of illegal immigration. Said the report, issued in May, "cable news overflows not just with vitriol, but also with a series of myths that feed viewers' resentment and fears, seemingly geared toward creating anti-immigrant hysteria."

There have been two futile efforts recently to get CNN to make Lou Dobbs stop lying. In April, the Congressional Hispanic Caucus fired off a letter complaining about Dobbs, and just last month the Washington D.C.-based Hispanic Institute called for "a Latino boycott of CNN to protest the cable news network's ongoing distortion of facts surrounding U.S. immigration issues, especially in commentaries and reports on "Lou Dobbs Tonight."

Dobbs is still spinning yarns for his fans, who are all too eager to believe the worst about Hispanics.

For utter disregard for the facts, it is hard to top his leprosy moment on "60 Minutes" last year. On his own program earlier, he had shown a report claiming illegal immigrants bring diseases like leprosy, of which there had allegedly been 7,000 cases in the past three years. But "60 Minutes" found out it was 7,000 cases in the past 30 years, and that no one knows how many can be attributed to illegal immigrants. Lesley Stahl called him on it.

"Well, I can tell you this. If we reported it, it's a fact," Dobbs said.

"How can you guarantee that to me?" Stahl asked.

Said Dobbs, "Because I'm the managing editor. And that's the way we do business. We don't make up numbers, Lesley, do we?"

Turns out he does make up numbers. It's fine to be an opinion journalist, as every columnist knows. But it's not fine to spread egregious factual falsehoods.

Dobbs can get pretty slick, like in this introduction to a correspondent's story during the big immigration marches in the spring of 2006:

"Turning to our illegal immigration and border security crisis, the White House today declared that President Bush supports making English the official language of the United States.

The issue of "illegal immigration and border security" is separate from the question of whether English needs to be made the "official language." People who think it needs to be "official" believe that the supremacy of the English language is under siege. Dobbs seems to be one of those people.

He made that very clear last year on his show when he asked CNN colleague Rick Sanchez whether we have "reached a stage in this country in which English is not the language of commerce, is not the language of education, media and science."

Can anybody be seriously worried that English in the United States is under that kind of threat?

In what was either a joke or an effort to make nice, last year Dobbs gave $5,000 to the National Association of Hispanic Journalists and became a lifetime member. I knew that you didn't need to be Hispanic to join. Apparently you don't have to be a journalist, either.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Your zeal for challenges usually works well for you. But this week it's best to avoid jumping into new situations without more information. Vital news emerges by the weekend.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Once again, the Bovine's patience pays off as that pesky problem works itself out without taking too much of your valuable time. A new task opens interesting possibilities.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Those suggestions you want to share need to be set aside for a while so you can focus on the job at hand. There'll be time later to put your ideas into a workable format.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Be sure about your sources before you use the information in any decision you reach about your new project. Some of the data might be out of date or misinterpreted.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) A sudden challenge might rattle you at first. But pump up that strong Lion's heart with a full measure of courage and face it with the continuing support of family and friends.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Watch your expenses this week so you can have a financial cushion to fall back on should things tighten up later this month. Money matters ease by the 31st.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Uncertainty over workplace policy creates anxiety and confusion among your colleagues. Don't be surprised if you're asked, once again, to help work things out.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) The work-week keeps you busy tying up loose ends and checking data that needs to be verified. The weekend offers a chance to relax and restore your spent energies.

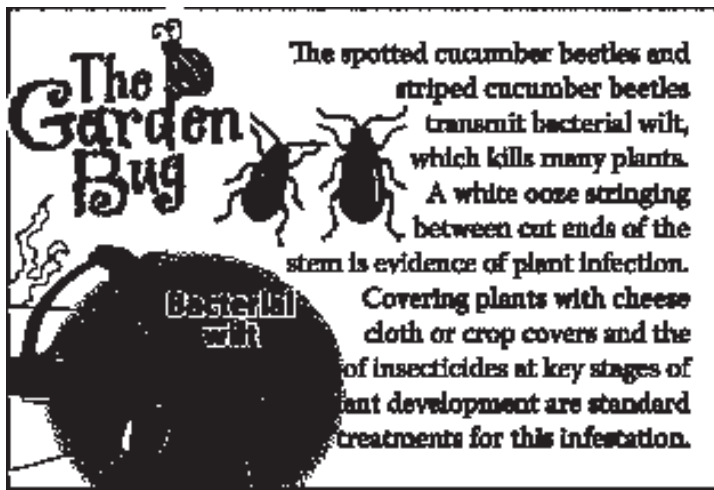

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) This is not the best time to go to extremes to prove a point. Better to set a sensible goal now and move forward. There'll be time later to take the bolder course.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A step-by-step progression is the better way to move ahead. Taking shortcuts could be risky at this time. Important news arrives on the 31st.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Avoid getting drawn into workplace disputes that should be handled by those directly involved. Instead, spend your energy developing those new ideas.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You still need to be prudent about money matters. But things start to ease by the end of the week. A weekend encounter with an old friend brings welcome news. BORN THIS WEEK: You handle challenging situations with boldness when necessary and caution when called for.

Notice of Public Hearing

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON THE FINAL ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT REPORT FOR THE 2008 SOLANO COUNTY GENERAL PLAN

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the County of Solano has prepared a Final Environmental Impact Report (FEIR) for the 2008 Draft Solano County General Plan.

This Final Environmental Impact Report (FEIR) evaluates the broad-scale impacts of the 2008 Solano County General Plan Update (2008 Draft General Plan). The 2008 General Plan FEIR is a program EIR under the California Environmental Quality Act Guidelines (State CEQA Guidelines) (California Code of Regulations, Title 14, Sections 15000 et seq. [14 CCR 15000 et seq.]). A program EIR "may be prepared on a series of actions that can be characterized as one large project and are related in connection with the issuance of rules, regulations, plans, or other general criteria to govern the conduct of a continuing program" (State CEQA Guidelines Section 15168[a][3]). In this case, the program EIR will address the 2008 Draft General Plan, which is the proposed project. This program EIR considers a series of actions needed to achieve the implementation of the 2008 Draft General Plan.

Environmental review in compliance with CEQA (Public Resources Code Sections 21000 et seq.) is required as part of the County's consideration of the 2008 Draft General Plan. PPC Section 21091 requires the County of Solano to include in the Final EIR responses to comments received on the Draft EIR which describe the disposition of any significant effects identified by commenters. PRC Section 21092.5 further requires the written responses to the comments submitted by public agencies to provide to those agencies at least 10 days prior to certification of the Final EIR.

The FEIR includes the require elements of Public Resources Code, Section 21000 et seq for the Final Environmental Impact Report for the 2008 Solano County General Plan. The Board of Supervisors must certify the EIR as a complete, accurate, and objective analysis prior to taking action on the 2008 Solano County General Plan. Responsible and trustee agencies will need to use the EIR prepared by the County when considering adoption of the 2008 Solano County General Plan. If you decide to challenge the action of the County in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at or prior to the final public hearing on the 2008 Solano County General Plan.

The Solano County Board of Supervisors will conduct a public hearing to review the Final EIR and receive public comments at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, July 29 2008, at the Solano County Board of Supervisors Board Room, 675 Texas Street, 1st Floor, Fairfield, California. The Board of Supervisors will consider certification of the Final EIR for the 2008 Solano County General Plan on August 5, 2008. Please submit any requests for a CD disk copy of the Final EIR, your written comments, including the name, address and telephone number of a contact person to: Jim Louie, Sr. Planner, Solano County Department of Resource Management, 675 Texas Street, Suite 5500, Fairfield, CA 94533 (707) 784-6765. Copies of the Final EIR can be reviewed at the Department of Resource Management at the above address beginning on July 21, 2008. Additional copies can be reviewed at all public libraries in Dixon, Rio Vista, Vacaville, Fairfield, Suisun City, Benicia and Vallejo and on the internet website at www.solanocountygeneralplan.net.
